

THANK YOU!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Because of the confidentiality requirement associated with rules for blind reviews, I am not permitted to list members of our editorial board who volunteered their services to assess and screen manuscripts. However, you may see the list of our board members at <http://jswve.org/editorial-board/>. They did a great deal of work. Most of these board members have been associated with The Journal of Social Work Values and Ethics for the last 14 years. They freely offer their time in screening manuscripts. It is a “thankless job” because, in fact, they may not be publicly thanked.

Starting with this issue, we announce the addition of new board members within the last two years. They are:

Policy Advisory Board

Akanke Omorayo Adenrele, MSW
Indiana University

Manuscript Review Board

Natalie R. Ames, Ed.D.
North Carolina State University

Eleni Papouli, Ph.D.
Technological Education Institute of Athens

Ogden Rogers, Ph.D., LCSW, ACSW
University of Wisconsin-River Falls

Noell L. Rowan, Ph.D.
University of Louisville

Deborah Jane Sauvage, Ph.D.
Griffith University, Australia

Maritta Törrönen, Ph.D.
University of Helsinki, Finland

Board of Copy Editors

W. Tamikka Gilmore, MSW (doctoral student)
Yelverton’s Enrichment Services, Inc.

Olivia Oxendine, Ed.D.
University of North Carolina at Pembroke

Melinda W. Pilkinton, Ph.D., LCSW
Mississippi State University

Melinda Robinson Rich, MSW, LCASA
Asha B’s Closet

Book Review Editor Board

Bishnu Dash, Ph.D.
University of Delhi

Elena Delavega, Ph.D., MSW
University of Memphis

Ottis Murray, Ed.D.
University of North Carolina at Pembroke

The copy editors who were responsible for the successful completion of volume 12 issues 1 and 2 include:

Samantha Cosgrove*
Donna DeAngelis
Debbie Holt
Georgianna Mack
Roger Ladd*
Bob E. McKinney*
Olivia Oxendine
Melissa A Schaub
Laura Smith
Karen Zgoda

*These editors worked on more than one manuscript.

I think copy editing is the most difficult job of all volunteer positions. Copy editors are worth their weight in gold!

THANK YOU!

Stephen M. Marson, Editor
Laura Gibson, Book Review Editor
